For Re-Orientation

East Group Meets To Study WSGA's Purpose on Campus

By NANCY EBERT

The committee to clarify the aims of the Woman's College in relationship to the entire University will meet tomorrow night for the first time this semester.

Organized last spring, the committee is composed of three WSGA Council members, Mary Madry, Sue Morrow, and Sarah Hunter; and two members-at-large, Helen Lynch and Marion Rice.

Also serving on the committee are two Administration representatives, Mrs. Frances Whitaker and Miss Marianna Jenkins; a house counselor, Miss Millicent Demmin; and two faculty members, Dr. Muriel Sandeen and Dr. Richard Leach. Tomorrow's meeting will be for the purpose of re-orientation, and future meetings will be discussed, according to Miss Morrow.

As soon as the committee has defined the aims of the Woman's College, it will examine the role of WSGA in the college community.

Replacing a similar group which dealt with specific campus problems, this new group plans to continue only as long as is necessary for the accomplishment of its purpose.

The committee was initiated last spring "to examine carefully the Woman's Student Government Association in its relation to the purpose of the Woman's College and the University as a whole."

The YWCA Cabinet has voiced a need for a supplemental committee composed of the heads of all campus organizations. This group would attempt to eliminate the overlapping of committee meetings on campus.

Last spring the "Y" submitted its suggestion in the form of a letter to Dean Roberto F. Brinkley. It called for a committee "broad in scope, covering campus-wide problems of long-range interest. With regard to immediate problems, it would act mainly in an advisory capacity," the letter stated.

West To Vote on Homecoming Queen Tomorrow, Wednesday in Union Arch

West residents will vote tomorrow and Wednesday to select one of 12 finalists as 1959 Homecoming Queen.

Voting booths will be open from 11:30 to 2 p.m. and 5 to 6:30 p.m. both days in the arch connecting House P and the Union Pictures of the candidates will be on display to aid the men in their voting, said Louise Ellis, chairman of the committee for selection of the Homecoming Queen.

Nominees for the honor of reigning over this year's Homecoming weekend include Terry Glidewell representing Addoms; Joyce Harris, Alspaugh; Mary Collum, Aycock; Barbara Berry, Bassett; Nancy Garland, Brown; Judy McKay, Faculty Apartments and Kathy Knoch, Gilbert.

Also Janet Welther, Giles; Peggy Borchardt, Hanes; Judy Heckroth, Jarvis; Myrna Pope, Pegram and Carol Corder, Southgate.

Five women's dormitory skits have been selected to participate in the Homecoming Show Friday evening. These include Aycock's "Meanwhile Back at the Farm," Bassett House's "This Is the Army," Brown's "The Beat Mule," last year's winner Giles House's "It's Never Too Late," and Hanes' "He's Got the Will to Fail."

The skit judged best by members of the Durham Chamber of Commerce Homecoming committee will be awarded a trophy. Fraternity and freshman house display awards will also be made during the Homecoming Show.

Congressman Speaks Here Saturday On Curbing Power of Supreme Court

U. S. Congressman Basil L. Whitener will speak here Saturday on the work of the House of Representatives Judiciary Committee, of which he is a member.

Slated for 10 a.m. in the Law Courtroom, the lecture—second in a series sponsored by the Public Lecture Series Committee—will deal chiefly with bills designed to curb the power of the U. S. Supreme Court.

Although the Judiciary Committee has considered and approved some of the bills, none have been acted upon by a full Congress, said Dr. Francis J. Paschal, chairman of the Public Lecture Series committee and a member of the Law School faculty.

The initial address of the series was given September 25 by State Senator J. Spencer Bell, leader of the unsuccessful effort to get the North Carolina General Assembly to pass court reform legislation at its last session.

Whitener, who was graduated from the University Law School, is a former member of the North Carolina Legislature. He is a native of York, S. C., and presently resides in Gastonia.

Rhodes Committee Meets

The University's Rhodes Scholarship committee met this afternoon to consider the applications of students who wish to enter the scholarship competition.

Candidates for the awards must be endorsed by the committee in order to enter the state competition. If successful in the state competition, candidates will enter a district contest in which the four scholarship winners from this section of the United States will be selected.

West Freshmen Pick Officers Tomorrow

West Campus freshmen will elect class officers and two MSGA Senators tomorrow afternoon in their regular assembly.

Voting for class officers will be by a preferential ballot; the candidate who receives the most votes will become president, the one receiving second highest number of votes will assume the office of vice-president, the third highest total, secretary, and the fourth largest tally of votes, treasurer.

The two Senators will be chosen from the following: George Collet, Bryant Lindsey, Duke Marston and Joe Worsham. One candidate was selected by each of the 12 freshman houses, and four expressed a preference to run for the Senate.

Candidates for class president include Windsor Demaine, Spike Spigener, Roger Hoffman, Dave Day, Kenneth Thompson, Roger Kissam and Stuart Loewenthal.

Former Associates

Faculty Adds Sixteen Professorships

Sixteen veteran faculty members have been promoted from associate professor to professor. Dr. Paul M. Gross, vice-president in the division of education, announced Saturday.

Those promoted include Dr. Allan M. Cartter and Dr. Ben F. Lemert of the economics department; Dr. A. W. Naylor, botany; Allan H. Bone, music; Dr. J. N. Truesdale, Greek; Dr. Theodore Ropp, history; Captain Charles C. Ainsworth, naval science and Dr. Harold W. Lewis, physics.

Others who received professorships include Dr. Louis D. Cohen and Dr. Gregory A. Kimble, psychology; Dr. John R. Gregg and Dr. Edward C. Horn, zoology; Dr. Roger F. Anderson,

School of Forestry; Dr. J. Francis Paschal and Melvin G. Shimm, School of Law and Dr. Ralph Braibanti, political science.

Cartter earlier this year was appointed dean of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. Lemert has served as vice-chairman of the southeast division of the Association of American Geographers.

Naylor, a consultant for the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, was instrumental in the development of a substance which makes plants stop growing without killing or injuring them. Bone, a former president of the N. C. Bandmasters Association, is conductor of the University's Symphony Orchestra.

'Fella' Here in Page Tomorrow Evening

By ARNIE KOHN

Chronicle News Editor

The Most Happy Fella, Frank Loesser's hit Broadway musical, comes to Page Auditorium for a one-night stand tomorrow evening at 8:15.

The play, which is being sponsored by the Student Union Major Attractions committee, was the recipient of the New York Drama Critics' Award as the best musical of the 1956-57 season.

Starting in the production are Richard Wentworth and Caroline Maye, who have both had experience in the Broadway theater.

Wentworth, who plays the role of Tony, is a former member of the New York City Opera Company. He boasts a repertoire of 86 different roles in 49 operas. He has filled the role of Tony in all of the leading American music theaters.

Miss Maye, a native New Yorker, studied at the Manhattan School of Music and worked her way up through chorus and understudy roles to play Isabella for two months during the original Broadway production. She has since recreated the role in summer stock productions across the country.

Loesser, who wrote music, lyrics and libretto for the production, is no stranger to Broadway. His most famous hits, Where's Charley? and Gypsy and Dolls, include such songs as "Once in Love With Amy," "Bushel and a Peck," and "I've Never Been in Love Before."

The Most Happy Fella departs from the usual musical comedy theme since it resembles an operetta more than a comedy. But such numbers as "Standing on the Corner" and "Big D" help maintain the lively pace. The show features 35 musical numbers, almost double that of most musicals.

Tickets for the production will be on sale at the Page box office tomorrow from 2 p.m. until curtain time, unless all seats are sold. Tickets are priced at $2, $2.50, and $3. Reservations may also be made by phoning the Page box office, extension 2711.

Law Center Receives Funds for Research

The University World Rule of Law Center has received two grants totaling $10,000, director Arthur Larson announced yesterday.

A $5,000 grant from the Institute for International Order will finance a complete analysis of research in international rule of law.

The other $5,000 grant will help the Center expand its project on possible legal controls for the kind of international propaganda that endangers peace. It is a personal grant from Earl D. Osborn, industrialist and president of the international institute.

Under the institute grant the Center will make a complete analysis of the research that should be made in the field of international law and will then concentrate on the areas where work appears to be most necessary.

The grant from Osborn makes it possible for the Center to engage the full-time service of John D. Whittion, a pioneer in the efforts to bring about control of international propaganda. Whittion is at present a professor of international law at Princeton University.

Coed Library Talks

Illustrated lectures on the West Campus Library will be given tomorrow and Wednesday evenings at 7 in Science Building on East Campus.

All freshman women will be required to attend one of these sessions, according to Miss Ellen Huckabee, dean of undergraduate instruction. Members of the General Library's reference department will deliver the lectures.

Woman's College Administration and student government last year combined their talents to set up a committee to evaluate the place of WSGA in relation to the college. That committee, as yet unnamed officially, met once last year and will convene tomorrow for its first meeting this semester. Before it becomes too engrossed in the thoughtful consideration of student government, the committee of faculty, Administration and student representatives should recognize the benefits of the right kind of publicity.

Through open meetings and progress reports, the ten members could foster the growth of enthusiasm for their work and for WSGA. Such support would be of a more substantial nature than the spurt of interest generated by a surprise report at the end of its investigations. If aware of the committee's struggles, East Campus could contribute some ideas and criticisms the group will need for mental fodder.

Obviously, these few would reject any entanglement in a mass of busy work (arranging hall by hall discussion meetings in the dorms or soliciting reports from every campus organization) to publicize their work. Busy work would completely dampen thoughtful analysis and exhaust the time allotted for it. Excessive advertising might also irritate the student body, make them expect concrete progress too soon, and cause unnecessary caustic criticism.

The pressure of campus awareness the right publicity could bring to bear upon the committee will prevent it from slipping into discouragement and disuse, will stimulate its best efforts, and bring some shine of newness to the old WSGA.

Chameleon Conservatives

We doubt very much that Harold Macmillan and his Conservative regime could answer Modern Republican Arthur Larson's trenchant question, What Are We For?, but they have nevertheless raised Britain to a prosperity unknown since the glories of Victoria. Their indifference to exalting a distinctive political creed, in fact, is the key to their success.

The Macmillan government has exemplified the virtues of a genuine conservatism: because they have never claimed a monopoly on truth, a single Right Way, they have been able to blend innovation and the established without suffering misgivings over consistency. They have succeeded, while the Liberals remained too devoted to individualism and laissez-faire to survive the acceptance of the welfare state and the Laborites found themselves too committed to total nationalization to stop short of its confused and bungling extremes.

It is undoubtedly more comfortable to wrap oneself in the banner of an ideological absolute, but as the Liberals and the Laborites have demonstrated, too often one becomes shackled to one's ideals.

'The Way We Found It'

"NY Puerto Ricans, Italians Go to War" blares the misleading three-column banner, and on the editorial page a southern newspaperman chortles "How Now, Which" in self-important segregationist simplicity. In another paper G. K. Hodenfield writes that "most delinquents . . . are normal youngsters, and their delinquency is a way of life rather than a manifestation of emotional disturbance or the result of broken homes, working mothers, bad comany chance of winning. And who can say that they are rebels without a cause.

Will reform schools help, will more cops do the trick, can social workers do anything, and what is the function of P.S. 129? No one knows. Society just plods along with its Officer Krupkies, its training schools, its social workers, and its schools without really going in, looking around, identifying with the people, and coordinating what can be coordinated and working with each person as an individual.

This takes too much time and effort. Sure, cops cut down on the crime rate, but crime is an indication of the underlying situation, not the cause of it. Sure, the bad ones panions, heredity, or a low I.Q." And in other papers on other pages reporters, educators, prohibitionists, revivalists, and sociologists report, speculate, declare, preach and study mobism and juvenile delinquency.

The why-can't-Johnny-read cry of a couple of years ago has changed to the why-can't-Johnny-be-good cry of today. "Why," asks Doc in The West Side Story, "do you hafta go around making this world unfit to live in?"

And Action answers, "That's the way we found it. Doc. That's the way we found it." That's the way they find it, crowded together, pressed into a social status with almost caste-like firmness, forced to be a tradition-determined mass in a country which denies all these.

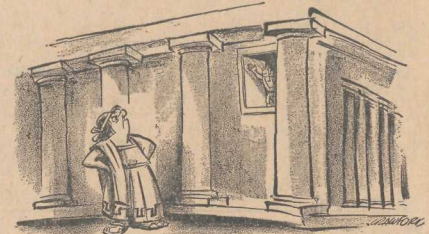

Gangs, originally a means of identification, have become a sometime tool of rebellion fighting for a piece of street, or a little local glory, because these seem to be the only things they can fight for with

STUDYING CAN BE SCREAMS

If studying is bugging you, try mnemonics.

Mnemonics, as we all know, was invented by the great Greek philosopher Mnemon in 526 B.C. (Mnemonics, incidentally, was only one of the inventions of this fertile Athenian. He also invented the staircase which, as you may imagine, was of inestimable value to mankind. Before the staircase people who wished to go from floor to floor were forced to live out their lives, willy-nilly, on the ground floor, and many of them grew cross as bears. Especially Demosthenes who was elected Consul of Athens three times but never served because he was unable to get up to the office of Commissioner of Oaths on the third floor to be sworn in. But after Mnemon's staircase, Demosthenes got up to the third floor easy as pie—to Athens' sorrow, as it turned out. Demosthenes, his temper shortened by years of confinement to the ground floor, soon embroiled his countrymen in a series of senseless wars with the Persians, the Visigoths and the Ogallala Sioux. He was voted out of office in 517 B.C. and Mnemon, who had made his accession possible, was pelted to death with fruit salad in the Duomo. This later became known as the Missouri Compromise.)

But I digress. We were discussing mnemonics, which are nothing more than aids to memory—catchwords or jingles that help you remember names, dates and places. For example:

*Columbus sailed the ocean blue
In fourteen hundred ninety-two.*

See how simple? Make up your own jingles. What, for instance, is the important event immediately following Columbus's discovery of America? The Boston Tea Party, of course. Try this:

*Samuel Adams flung the tea
Into the briny Zuyder Zee.*

(NOTE: The Zuyder Zee was located in Boston Harbor until 1904 when Salmon P. Chase traded it to Holland for Louisiana and two outfielders.)

But I digress. To get back to mnemonics, you can see how simple and useful they are—not only for history but also for everyday living; for instance:

*In nineteen hundred fifty-nine
The smoke to look for is Alpine.*

"Why Alpine?" you ask. Taste that fine, fresh flavor. Enjoy that subtle coolness. Until Alpine you needed two cigarettes to reap the benefits of Alpine—one for flavor, one for high filtration—and smoking two cigarettes is never graceful; in fact, with mittens it is high impossible. Now you need only one cigarette—Alpine. Get some. You'll see.

can be thrown in the clink and the gangs temporarily disbanded, but that doesn't erase the cause of the gangs, and when our now reformed Johnny returns to the asphalt farmland fertilized with the same old tensions and growing the same old crop of violence, he very quickly returns to tilling the soil in the old pre-weeded way.

Not that some of the people concerned don't know what the causes of the basic tensions are, and not that once these were removed (if we only knew how), people like The Vampire, and Pistrano, and the others wouldn't crop up, for these are individuals, but they wouldn't be so encouraged by society.

The big problem seems to be instruction of society at large; instruction in understanding, in tolerance, and if possible, in an attitude of willingness to release the tightly held local strings of class consciousness. These people would escape; but they have, most of them, no security to escape to. Such security as they have would be lost if they went elsewhere, went away from the only style of life they know.

You can't break down social barriers to improvement in a day or a decade. A long-range program is needed to provide a foundation for all the necessary short-range solutions that are not in themselves solutions—a long-range program in the schools, in society, and in the construction business.

Jerry Nourse Paces Iron Dukes To Victory in Triangular Meet

Coach Al Buehler's cross-country runners lived up to his expectations Friday, chalking up a resounding victory over NC State and Wake Forest in a triangular meet at Winston-Salem.

Low point score for the varsity harriers was 21. State tallied 59, to Wake's 61.

Jerry "Little Poison" Nourse led the field with a very respectable time of 23:06. Runner-up was Wake's top man Sam Jourdan, 20 seconds behind.

Next came three Blue Devils—Cary Weisiger and Fred Hurd (24:54), and Tom Bazemore (25:13). Dave Honeycutt, Jim Ebert, Vic Braren, and Dave Jones made it unanimous, capturing 8th, 9th, 10th, and 11th places in that order.

"We're back on the bandwagon," said Buehler. "These boys did a fine job; everyone's cooperation was needed, which is just what we got. It was good solid team effort."

The Imp Harriers, running their first meet of the year, turned in a perfect performance, winding up with the top score. All eight runners finished in front of the opposition, setting a new course record in the process.

SENIOR HARRIER—Cary Weisiger, one of the top aces on coach Al Buehler's Iron Duke Harriers, is a senior from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Tied for first place at 11:26 were Norm Fordyce, Frank Campbell, Staley Gentry, and Tonnie Coane. Next came Louis Van Dyke, Ray Lunsford, Dave Blumfield, and Lloyd Brinson—all abreast of each other in 5th place.

Final Frosh scores were: Duke 15, State 65, and Wake 69.

By ADD PENFIELD

Loyal Duke football supporters could find little to take solace from in the Duke 12-0 loss to the Pitt Panther in Pittsburgh Saturday.

The Blue Devils were out-charged and outthought by the tough line and that was the story of the game in plain and simple terms. Pitt asserted itself on the opening kickoff, driving for the first score in a matter of ten plays. After that Johnny Michelsen's charges were content to play cat and mouse with the Dukes.

A recovered fumble, a blocked punt, and an intercepted pass, all occurring in the second period gave the Devils hope, but the stout Pitt defense put down each Duke threat after these breaks.

The second half was more or less a standoff affair with the exception of the final Pitt tally when Ivan (the Terrible) Tonic tossed a beautiful pass to All-American Mike Ditka. The play covered 56 yards and left a couple of the Blue Devils in a slight state of shock.

Injuries reared their ugly heads in the Pitt contest and dealt the Blue Devils at least two severe blows. Pass-snaring end Tee Moorman and rough-and-tumble center Butch Allie both left the field with torn ligaments in their knees and will probably be out for the remainder of the campaign.

There is also a possibility that Lee will be on the sidelines this week when the Blue Devils face the invading Cadets of Army in the annual Homecoming clash.

For the third consecutive week the Blue Dukes came up with a sophomore surprise at halfback, this time in the person of Jack Withrow. The 175-pounder, who runs like a scared jackrabbit in the open field, came off the bench following the injury to Lee and was the leading ground gainer for the Devils with 27 yards in five carries for a 5.4 average.

Practice Opens for Bubas' First Campaign As Youngkin, Hurt Head List of Returnees

By JOE BOWLES
Chronicle Sports Editor
Basketball practice for Coach Vic Bubas' Blue Devil hoopers is scheduled to begin Thursday in preparation for the 1959-60 campaign.

"I think we have the nucleus of a very good squad," commented Bubas. "However, I will repeat what I emphasized last spring: last year's baskets won't win this year's ballgames."

Bubas finds a squad with good depth as well as several outstanding players back from last year's team, coached by Hal Bradley to a 13-12 mark. Howard Hurt and Carroll Youngkin, a couple of All-ACC selections, head the list of returning lettermen.

Starters back include forward Doug Kistler and guard John Frye. Fred Kast, a spot starter last year, figures in the coaches' plans heavily.

Sophomores who are counted on to help are guard Jack Mullen and forward Buzz Mewhort. Mullen, out for most of last season with a bad knee, has reported in good physical condition after an operation over the summer.

The Blue Dukes open with Georgia Tech here on December 2, participating in two Christmas classics, the Birmingham Classic December 18 and 19, and the Dixie Classic in Raleigh December 28-30.

Roanoke Rallies To Defeat Devil Soccermen

By MIKE WELSH
Roanoke College's soccer team defeated the Blue Devils Saturday by a score of 3-2 in a rain-swept game played at Roanoke. A Homecoming crowd was treated to a hard fought game which saw the Blue Dukes take twenty-eight shots and Roanoke only twelve. Coach Jim Bly commented, "The ball just wouldn't go into the goal for us." Bly also gave a great deal of credit to Roanoke goalie John Clegg, who made some great saves in the goal.

Both teams scored in the first quarter with John Birmingham scoring the Duke goal. Birmingham got his second goal of the day late in the second period as he put Duke ahead 2-1 at the half.

Roanoke came back, however, to get a goal in each of the remaining quarters to take the 3-2 victory.

Bly declared, "It was a good game in which we outplayed them. All of the boys on the team fought hard and played well. I think the team has improved; we lost a tough game."

Bly praised Birmingham, Brooks, Hobie Hyde, Dick Stacy, Pete Moller, and Kenny Walz.

Varsity 'D' Hears Wade

The Varsity 'D' Club will hold its first fall meeting Wednesday night at 7.

The meeting, which will be held in the Varsity 'D' Room in the Indoor Stadium will feature Wallace Wade, ex-Duke coach as speaker.

DUAA Homecoming Festivities Planned

Several sporting events have been planned by the Athletic Association for Saturday's homecoming activities.

In addition to the football contest between the Blue Devils and the United States Military Academy, cross-country events and a special golf exhibition will be offered.

Mike Souchak and Art Wall, two of golf's biggest money winners and both alumni of the university, will give a golf exhibition at 10 a.m. Saturday on the golf course. Students may obtain tickets by presenting their athletic books at the ticket window of the Indoor Stadium.

The cross country squad will host The Citadel while the freshman harriers entertain Myers Park High and South Mecklenburg High of Charlotte in a cross-country race scheduled for 11 that morning.
